This survey covers political issues, and the results will be used to inform our clients.

Your YouGov Account will be credited with 150 points for completing this survey.

We have tested the survey and found that, on average it takes around 30 minutes to complete. This time may vary depending on factors such as your internet connection speed and the answers you give.

In order to begin the survey please click the arrow below.

Page: scaleintro

On the next few screens we would like to get your opinion of parties and their leaders.

Please rate each party or party leader using the scale on the screen. Ratings between 5 and 10 mean that you feel favourable toward the party or leader. Ratings between 0 and 5 mean that you don't feel favourable toward them.

You would rate the party or leader at the 5 mark if you don't feel particularly favourable or unfavourable toward them. Simply drag the arrow to your desired ranking. We are going to show you a number of scales, one after the other.

Please click next to continue.

Earlier in this survey we provided you with a summary of an important political issue adapted from news coverage. This article was based on events that were reported on the BBC and other prominent international journalistic outlets at some point during the past 15-20 years. We did, however, omit reference to identifying information such as the countries involved, time period in question and details of specific legal cases. The purpose of this research was academic; the intention was not simply to take the issue out of context. Please click the arrow to exit this survey.

At the end of this study, we'll be conducting a random draw for 10,000 points (£100). All respondents who complete the study will be eligible.

If you win, you'll have the chance to share your prize with another completely anonymous individual who also completed the survey.

Please keep in mind that whether you share your prize will have no effect on your chances of winning! Also, you will never know the identity of the person with whom you share the prize and they'll never know your identity.

Finally, remember that you don't have to share anything if you don't wish.

In addition to the 150 YouGov Point points that you will receive for completing this survey, you will be entered into a random draw. One study participant will be randomly chosen to be eligible for a large number of YouGov bonus points.

Should you win the draw, your answers to the question below will determine the amount of the YouGov Point bonus points that you receive. Remember that your answers are completely anonymous.

Below, we offer you two options: the amount of money you would be given in a month and the amount we would give you in two months. We will randomly select one of the prizes from 1 to 12, and the answer you give below will determine which of those prizes you win.

For each prize, please indicate whether you would take the prize in one month or the prize in two months.

A country sent its military to take over a neighboring country. The attacking country was led by a democratically elected government, which invaded because of a longstanding historical feud. The attacking country had a strong military, so it would have taken a major effort for the United Kingdom to help push them out. A victory by the attacking country would hurt the safety and economy of the United Kingdom.

A country sent its military to take over a neighboring country. The attacking country was led by a democratically elected government, which invaded because of a longstanding historical feud. The attacking country had a strong military, so it would have taken a major effort for the United Kingdom to help push them out. A victory by the attacking country would hurt the safety and economy of the United Kingdom.
